

2nd March 2008

Past Preservers on the History Channel

Quest for the Lost Ark was aired on 2nd March on the History Channel in the USA. It was produced by September Films and Past Preservers provided top class talent (thanks guys) for the production in Cairo.

For those of you on the other side of the pond you will have to wait until April to see it.

This is what they say:

The existence and location of the Ark of the Covenant has remained one of the most enduring mysteries in archaeology. Professor Tudor Parfitt from London's School of Oriental and African Studies will reveal where he believes the Ark is. Parfitt is well-known for discovering that the Lemba tribe in Zimbabwe is one of the lost tribes of Israel. Follow this global quest-detective as he decodes ancient texts and pieces together clues.

Ultimately he builds a picture of what he thinks the Ark looks like and where it is. The journey takes viewers through Israelite wars, Philistine shrines, Solomon's Temple and Africa to the final, critical clue which led Parfitt to its current location.

Enjoy!

<http://www.history.com/shows.do?action=detail&episodeId=272786>

<http://www.septemberfilms.com/home.asp>

<http://www.pastpreservers.com/>

Past Preservers was founded by archaeologist

Nigel J.

Hetherington in 2005 to provide historical and archaeological consultancy and professional support to the media industry.

Past Preservers provides expert opinion and counsel throughout the creative process, from conception to product delivery.